Mr Dugdale's Sports Fact of the Week

Taking part in sport has many mental health benefits. Exercise is good for your mental health as it can battle feelings of anxiety and depression, sharpen your focus, and improve self-esteem.

National Online Safety about Screen Addiction

It can be challenging for parents and carers to know whether children are spending too much time on their devices. Furthermore, it's even more of a challenge to know whether a child is addicted to the internet and social media. As technology is becoming more pervasive, children and young people are experiencing tech-related dependencies. Do we as parents and carers have the knowledge to identify and support children and young people who may be developing an addiction to their devices?

47% of parents said they thought their children spent too much time in front of screens

What parents need to know about SCREEN ADDICTION

SMARTPHONE ADDICTION IS A RECOGNISED HEALTH CONDITION

Children as young as 13 are attending 'smartphone rehab' following growing concerns over screen time. There are now help centers in the UK which deal with screen addiction for children and adults showing the seriousness of device addiction.

IT CAN CAUSE SLEEP DEPRIVATION

7 out of 10 children said they had missed out on sleep because of their online habits and 60% said they had neglected school work as a result. It is important that children get the sleep they need in order to focus the next day.

CONFIDENCE, SUPPORT & ACCEPTANCE

The Children's Commissioner report 'Life in Likes' explored how children aged 8-11 are using social media today. It showed that children are using their devices to speak to their online friends about their problems and seek acceptance and support, removing face to face interactions.

LOSS OF INTEREST IN OTHER THINGS

Your child may become less interested in anything that does not include their device. You may notice that your child is missing school time and generally being less engaged with other activities in the home. It is important to discuss this with your child as soon as you notice a behaviour change.

APPS CAN BE ADDICTIVE

Apps have been designed with 'psychological tricks' to constantly keep grabbing your attention. One example of this is on the app Snapchat, where you can gain 'streaks' when interacting with your friends. If you don't respond, you lose the streak. This addictive nature of apps aims to engage children and keep them coming back for more.

Amazing Mathematicians

This week in F2 KE we have been sharing groups of objects into two parts and finding out how many are in each.

We have looked at different strategies to help us do this such as sharing with two friends and using the part-part whole model.

On Tuesday our challenge was to count how many shape pieces were in the tub and then share the objects in to the part-part whole model.

There were lots of objects so we counted them in to piles of ten (counting in 2s and 5s), We then counted how many piles of ten we had and recorded this. 240 objects!

We then shared the piles of 10 into each of our parts and counted how many were in each. 120 in each part.

We now know that 240 shared between 2 is 120 and two lots of 120 = 240.
